This publication lists all the books and articles about the blind added to the special reference library since 1930. The first catalog was published in 1907. A supplement bringing the listings up to date was published in 1916, and a second volume in 1930. The first two catalogs were prepared by the late Miss Laura M. Sawyer, while the supplement of 1930 and the present volume were prepared by her successor, Miss Mary Esther Sawyer.

These four volumes comprise all the books, magazine articles and other material in English, now contained in the special reference library. In addition there are several thousand items in nineteen different languages. This collection represents the greatest source of material about the blind in the world and is available for research study within the library.
